

Public Health Association
AUSTRALIA
Health Promotion
Special Interest Group

PHAA Health Promotion Special Interest Group

Networking Event at Population Health Congress 2022

Wednesday, Sept 21, 2022

1.00PM – 1.45PM

Room: E1, Adelaide Convention Centre

Who we are

- Our SIG focuses on health promotion, prevention and education across the breadth of public health.

What we do

- Bring together members with an interest in Health Promotion
- Participate in the development of policies and position papers
- Engage in advocacy activities, including writing submissions and advocacy letters to Parliamentary Inquiries and Government Consultations
- Provide access to events such as conferences, workshops, webinars, etc
- Provide access to cutting-edge news and updates on public health activities and programs
- Provide awards and travel scholarships every year for SIG members

Why You Should Attend the Networking Event?

LEARN about the Health Promotion SIG

LISTEN from the 2022 Award Winners

CONNECT with your peers

UNWIND in between sessions

2022 Health Promotion SIG Award Winners

Individual Award (Research)

Professor Sarah Durkin, Cancer Council Victoria

Individual Award (Practice)

Associate Professor Aziz Rahman, Federation University Australia

Early Career Award (Research)

Dr Joanne Maree Flavel, The University of Adelaide

Travel Scholarship

Ms Jemima Lotika, Robinvale District Health Services, Victoria